Micala,

You have never given us notice of your concerns on these issues so I didn't have any idea you were planning to file a motion to quash. I have been on calls and am tied up for the rest of this afternoon, but how about a call with counsel of record on Monday or Tuesday to discuss these issues related to the manner and timing of production of documents and what privileges you are asserting (if any)? I'm sure that there is a solution that will work for any third party to limit the burden (email, or pre-paid FedEx/courier pickup, etc.); if there's a valid basis for an assertion of privilege we should be able to agree about it.

Also, we have gotten nothing yet from Jowers, so we also want to discuss how we can know that we will get copies of these documents we are entitled to without Jowers's cooperation or third party help. We should also go over why Jowers has not produced them already himself, including the documents we already obtained from third parties. Perhaps we can get somewhere and avoid heaping more paper on the Court regarding issues we really should be able to work out amongst ourselves.

Have a nice weekend.

Dkt 165 - Motion for Protective Order

James,

The filing under your name of Dkt 165 violated Local Rule CV-7(i). Perhaps you are not aware, but we did not meet and confer with anyone at DLA about this motion. Micala's certification that we had met and conferred was a blatant misrepresentation of what I said in my email back to her this afternoon. A copy is attached.

To summarize, I requested an actual meeting and conference on the issues the motion raised and asked when you could talk on Monday or Tuesday. Filing a certificate of conference like Micala just did borders on bad faith.

I demand that you notify the Court that we had not met and conferred and that my position was misstated in the certificate of conference. Further, I demand that you withdraw the motion until we have met and conferred on the issue, when and if we come to an impasse.

Please let me know immediately whether you will do as requested; otherwise, we are going to proceed with preparing an emergency motion to strike. To that end, I request a meeting and conference on this issue so that we can properly comply with Local Rule CV-7(i). I'm available Monday or Tuesday pretty much any time as I said in my prior email.

All this time wastage could be resolved if your client would just comply with the rules and produce the documents we are entitled to.

Robert:

Your statement that DLA did not meet and confer with you about the issues raised in the motion is knowingly false. We have notified you of this procedural defect and your repeated failure to comply with the geographic limits set forth in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 multiple times, including but not limited to: (1) in January 2020 when we were specially retained by Legis Ventures to object and respond to the defective subpoena you improperly tried to serve in New York; (2) in Defendant's response to the Kinney Parties' motion for alternate service of subpoena on Legis Ventures, to which you filed a reply; (3) on April 9, 2020 in email correspondence with James Bookhout, to which you responded that you believed you had complied with the rules "to a T," and (4) today, when we sent you the draft motion prior to filing. Kirkland and Ellis similarly alerted you to this procedural defect in the firm's motion for protection.

The issue raised in the motion is a discrete issue which has been brought to your attention on at least five occasions, and yet you have failed to correct the facial defect with respect to the subpoenas at issue. In fact, you have intentionally and knowingly ignored it, and instead continued to engage in improper discovery tactics. Even now, you are implausibly alleging that you have not had notice of this issue, when you've actually had notice on five separate occasions.

As I said in my prior email this evening, if you are willing to withdraw the improper subpoenas, then we will withdraw Defendant's motion for protection. That is the only issue raised in our motion.

Sincerely,

Micala

Micala,

Your certification states you conferred with me yesterday via email. It then states that I said in this conference that I opposed the motion. Can you please identify the email correspondence that you reference where I stated I was opposed?

I understand that you believe your motion has merit and we would have been opposed had you followed the rule and conferred with me. That is neither the issue nor the standard. You need to withdraw the motion and correct this problem.
